Subject: A breakthrough!

Shelter

Big news

Last week we had a breakthrough with our campaign against DSS discrimination!

Ludlow Thompson, who appeared to be banning renters, receiving housing benefit, from homes they let - told us they're taking steps to stop DSS discrimination.

This happened because Shelter supporters tweeted, protested, called and sent emails to Ludlow's CEO, to demand that they end this unwarranted practice.

Every action raised the pressure, and Ludlow's response demonstrates this.

This breakthrough couldn't have happened without supporters like you holding Ludlow Thompson to account.

Thousands spoke up, and this was impossible to ignore.

Housing benefit is there to help people find a place to live, but 'No DSS' practices make it harder for renters to access a home.

We will stamp out DSS discrimination across the industry, for good.

Thanks for your support,
